

Ask the Authors

Q: What's with the script format? Don't you know that the only people who write script-fics are people who can't write proper prose?

Andrew: Yeah, well, I'm writing a novel! Suck on that!

Ryan: You still can't write proper prose.

Andrew: Shut up. They don't know that.

Ryan: Anyway, the reason for the script format is our desire to emulate the actual Star Wars scripts. We felt that would be the best style for the parody we had in mind.

Andrew: Take that, askee!

Ryan: Uh... We're the askees.

Andrew: Next question!

Q: What's with all the Invader Zim references?

Andrew: Glad you caught those. Now shut up.

Ryan: I think Andrew's trying to siphon humor from Zim.

Andrew: Next question!

Q: Why do you change some of the names, but not others? Kill Sun? Seriously? That's the best you can do?

Ryan: You should be glad. Originally, we were going to change every name.

Andrew: Of course, all the good names are taken. That's why we ended up with such a bland, unoriginal name for the series.

Ryan: He insisted on Spaceballs.

Andrew: What? I'm sure that one's not been used before.

Q: So, what's the deal with the troopers?

Ryan: Yes.

Andrew: Next question!

Q: Seriously, what's up with the stormtrooper kill count?

Andrew: We wanted to see how many troopers we could kill.

Ryan: The results are still being tabulated.

Andrew: I told you we should have used CSI Science to get the answer.

Ryan: And I told you that we don't have enough beakers for that.

Andrew: Aww...

Ryan: Next question!

Andrew: Hey!

Q: Are you going to make parodies based on the previews at the end of each episode?

Andrew: Only if I feel like it.

Ryan: We have other things planned for after we're done with the movie parodies.

Andrew: By the way, we're not counting "The Clone Wars" as a movie. Ever.

Ryan: This coming from the person who enjoyed Legacy of the Force.

Andrew: At least I feel guilty about it. Next question!

Q: So, who does what, exactly?

Ryan: I do most of the work on the website and Andrew does most of the writing.

Andrew: We each think the other got the short end of the stick. By the way, ever wonder where that expression came from?

Ryan: Moving on...

Andrew: You see, the Romans-

Ryan: Next question!

Q: What did you do to Valorum and Dooku?

Andrew: We made Valorum interesting – duh!

Ryan: And we're still not sure what exactly happened to Dooku.

Andrew: We blame aspartame.

Ryan: No, we already used that once.

Andrew: Come on, who doesn't like a good running joke?

Q: You mean like the bagels?

Andrew: Hey! Who wrote that question? Are there psychics reading this now?

Q: You're the one writing these, aren't you?

Andrew: I deny everything!

Q: You don't have enough readers to warrant a Q&A!

Andrew: That's not even a question!

Q: Grover Cleveland!

Andrew: Your mother!